

Eddie Rockets goes wireless

American-style diner Eddie Rockets has signed a deal with Dublin-based Captiva Software to use the group's wireless waitressing system.

Eddie Rockets said it had decided to invest in the technology in order to enable accuracy of ordering, reduce errors, reduce docketing and also to speed up the payment process.

House of Fraser sale efficiency

The introduction of a new label printer, the HT200e, at House of Fraser in Dundrum has reduced sale preparation time for the group by about 50 per cent.

The new machine means that staff now have more time to spend with customers where previously they were forced to spend time writing labels, the company said in a statement. The machine was installed by PC Cubed, which acts for Sato, a specialist manufacturer of labelling, in Ireland.

Fallon & Byrne in stock-taking move

Fallon & Byrne, Dublin's new food hall, restaurant and wine cellar, is using technology developed by Leaders Enterprises, to manage its stock-taking.
